About this group

We focus on Microsoft Hybrid Cloud solutions where the on-premises infrastructure is the center of it all. Notwithstanding, we also believe that many people need the Cloud for many important needs. Therefore Hybrid is first and foremost what most people know, which is their servers and

Help reboot economy by buying local first

BY EDDIE HOO

NOW that more businesses have reopened and interstate travel is allowed under the recovery movement control order (RMCO), we are seeing a semblance of pre-coronavirus pandemic days.

Long choked by the restrictions under MCO and then CMCO, the lifeblood of our economy has begun to flow more freely again.

Brick-and-mortar shops, mostly shuttered during the containment period, are important sources of jobs. Together with the wholesale sector and other components of the retail sector, they provide an estimated 1.5 million full-time and another 100,000 part-time jobs.

Being an integral part of our national economic component, a return to profitability for these outlets will mean a faster reboot of the wider economy. The performance of retail sector is a good barometer of the overall health of the nation's economy.

What we as consumers can do is to buy local first. We need to back local businesses as they try to get back on their feet after such challenging times.

Retail outlets on their own could start to prioritise local and farm fresh goods over imported items. Such an initiative will see ramifications for all local sectors, from the farms to th

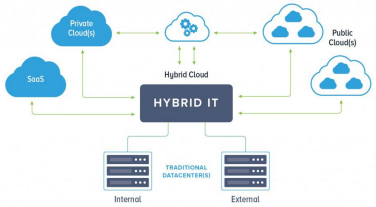
Cybersecurity

Hybrid IT is Very Important



- Regulatory, compliance, data sovereignty requirements mandate data to be secured on premise
- Bandwidth constraints or heavy data usage cause latency / performance issues
- Customer is not comfortable with the uncertainty of Cloud service costs
- Customer prefers up-front payment over extended payment schedule
- New technology needs to be integrated with existing on-premises infrastructure. Legacy on-premises apps that cannot be migrated
- Control over all systems / data
